NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK—City Atty. Gerald Jones, Dixon, is sporting a crimson face today.

He spent most of yesterday helping the committees arrange the annual Notre Dame club banquet at Plum Hollow last night.

He popped into our office with a pre-banquet account of what was to take place—the naming of a scholarship winner and the awarding of the "Man of the Year" award.

Jerry, after all the business had been settled, attended the banquet and then learned that he was the "Man of the Year!"

"Honestly," he told us today, "that buildup wasn't because I knew I was to get the award. I didn't know a thing about it . . . honestly!".

Althought the evidence might be considered incriminating, Mr. Jones, we believe you! Honestly!

Beginning today, the Evening Telegraph is publishing a series of "Freedom of the Press," The first installment will be found in our editorial column. It's a series prepared by the Associated Press outlining the efforts made to gain access to information that should be public.

Newspapers throughout the nation are deeply concerned about the problem of free access to news. "The People's Right To Know," is the proper slogan for hundreds of newspapers and news services throughout the country. It's a worthwhile bit of reading for the public who should be concerned mightily with this growing tendency to bottle up essential information.

The Dixon Shrine club is sponsoring the "world's largest" rummage sale Friday and Saturday in the basement of St. Luke's church.

Joe Magidson, Dixon appliance dealer, tells us that the event promises to be a gala event and that contributions of salable items are coming in at a good rate.

The proceeds, according to Joe, will go to the North Central Association for Aid to Retarded Children. If you want to contribute something, clothing, etc., phone 3-8941 or 3-0241 right away and someone will pick up your contributions.

To simplify it and relieve the committee of much extra work, you can deliver your items to St. Duke's basement on the morning of April 30. Monetary contributions will be accepted also. Take them to the Dixon Appliance Store, 103 Peoria av.

Another event of significant importance is on schedule for May 11. The second annual Dixon Scholastic Honor banquet will be held in the Loveland Community House. The American Association of University Women and the Dixon Woman's club are co-sponsors of the event which got off to a good start last year. The purpose is to honor Dixon High school students who have gained high marks in their scholastic endeavors.

The tickets are $1.85 and may be procured from Mrs. Charles F. Johnston, 626 Ottawa av.

Dr. Eugene Vest, a former Dixon resident, now on the faculty of the University of Illinois, will be the speaker.

Two and one half year old Douglas Farley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farley, 317 Grant av., is home again.

The youngster was picked up by police Monday afternoon after he wandered away from home, the second such escapade within a week.

This time police found Douglas playing happily near the Rock river at the foot of Custer avenue. Police said that his clothing was wet, indicating that he might have been testing the river for swimming purposes.

Oregon Boy Gets Scholarship

GERALD SAUER, third from left, son of Mrs. Maurice Sauer, 407 South Sixth st., Oregon, received the annual Rock River Valley University of Notre Dame Alumni club's $1,000 scholarship this year at the annual meeting of the club at Plum Hollow country club last night. R. Gerald Jones, extreme left, was named by the club as "Man of the Year" from this area. Jones is Dixon city attorney. Sauer plans to study medicine at Notre Dame. He is a senior at Oregon high school and has been an honor student for four years. He is a member of the school's photography club, chorus and newspaper. Doubt Accuracy Of FHA Method

Say Simplified Cost Estimate Procedure Could Go Haywire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter L. Greene, former deputy FHA commissioner, told investigating senators today that a "simplified cost estimate procedure" which could go "haywire" was used in appraising the estimated cost of large-scale postwar rental projects.

Angry members of the Senate Banking Committee could not draw from Greene, however, any agreement that some builders of these projects under expired Section 608 of the housing law made "unconscionable" profits.

The elderly, long-time official of the Federal Housing Administration told the committee, headed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind):

"I will say that I've seen no evidence that the Internal Revenue Bureau is talking about the figures we are."

Internal Revenue Chief T. Coleman Andrews recently gave the committee a list of 1,149 builders or firms he said had made "windfall" profits up to 75 million dollars by getting FHA-insured loans far in excess of the cost of construction.

Greene retired last week from his FHA post. On call to follow him in the committee's investigation were two other veteran FHA officials who quit or lost their jobs in the wake of revelations of abuses in the housing field—Burton C. Bovard, suspended general counsel, and Howard M. Murphy, resigned associate counsel.

Dixon Boy Bruised As Car Hits Bike

Allen Como, 6, of 515 Sixth st., Dixon, received a bruised leg Tuesday when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an auto driven by Melburn Schrock, 21, of 1804 Factory st.

Apparently young Como darted in front of the car near 623 Third st., police reports said. His condition is not believed to be serious.

Four Indicted Men Arraigned In Ogle County

OREGON—(Special)— Four men indicted by the Ogle county grand jury Monday were arraigned in circuit court today.

Maurice Charleton, 27, Rockford, charged with burglary of the Henry Mammen tavern, Stillman Valley, entered a plea of guilty and asked probation. Judge Leon A. Zick made no ruling on the request.

Ray Wren, 29, and Adam Ketchum, 23, both of Rocelle, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of overcoats valued at $45 from a dance hall in Creston. Judge Zick granted their request for probation.

Dale Harrolle, Rochelle, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of child abandonment. No date has been set for trial.

Ex-Amboy Woman Bilked Of $2,500, Indictment Says

SPRINGFIELD—(Special)—A 71-year-old Springfield man, accused of using the mails to defraud a former Amboy woman of $2,500, went to trial in a Federal court here today.

Clarence Elmer Bryant was indicted in June, 1952. It was alleged that he got the money from Mrs. Anna Wedekind, who moved from Amboy to Springfield, by misrepresenting in two letters he intended to buy a home for her.

He is also accused of bilking other women he met through his lonely hearts club in 1949 and 1950.

The indictment also accused the stocky, bespectacled Bryant of misrepresenting himself as unmarried and seeking a wife.

Generally, he is accused of scheming to defraud "that class of persons who were desirous of corresponding with and becoming acquainted with a man for the purpose of entering into a matrimonial relationship."

His "C. E. Bryant Friendship Club," the indictment states, was in operation from before Nov. 1, 1949 to April 12, 1950.

Bryant's attorney, Walter Simhauser, said his client's defense was that his transactions were legitimate business operations undertaken without any intention to defraud. He said Bryant asserts he borrowed money, gave a note and intends to pay the amount back.

McCarthy Protests Method Of Questioning by Jenkins

Labels It 'Completely Unfair'

Jenkins Asked If Schine Hired GIs To Clean His Rifle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy exploded with violent protests today against questions as to whether Pvt. G. David Schine hired fellow soldiers to clean his rifle and told his commander he was in the army to modernize and streamline it.

Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the senate investigations subcommittee, was putting the questions to Secretary of the Army Stevens at the televised hearings on McCarthy's row with army officials.

And Stevens, with some laughter, was nodding, "I heard it."

McCarthy shouted that Jenkins' questions were "completely unfair" to Schine, wealthy New Yorker who worked for McCarthy before he was drafted.

McCarthy said Jenkins might create the impression that the questions were facts.

'Never Heard That'

McCarthy said that if charges were to be made against Schine, a central figure in the controversy, he should be made a party to the investigation.

This, McCarthy shouted, would permit Schine to engage counsel and cross-examine witnesses.

Jenkins also had asked whether Stevens ever heard that Schine while at Ft. Dix, N. J., "almost invariably rode in the cab of the truck" while other soldiers were packed in the truck "like cattle or sheep."

"I never heard that," Stevens replied.

When McCarthy protested, Jenkins said he had no knowledge as to the truth or falsity of the questions he asked.

Demanded Report

McCarthy said alleged favors to Schine while he was taking basic training at Ft. Dix had been investigated by the inspector general of the army. He demanded that the report be put into evidence.

McCarthy complained that Schine was being "smeared" by Jenkins' questions by asking Stevens "have you learned this" or "have you learned that."

Chairman Mundt (R-SD) broke in to say that Schine would be called as a witness "in due course."

Mundt ruled the questions were entirely proper under the committee's purpose of seeking light and truth on the charges and countercharges in the case.

Escaped K. P.?

Jenkins also asked whether Stevens had heard that Schine did not wear his regular uniform, escaped kitchen duties, got more leaves and passes than other soldiers.

McCarthy's complaint that it was "improper" for Jenkins to be

Hearings to End By Labor Day?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Symington (D-Mo) thinks the Army-McCarthy hearings, now in their fifth day, may last all summer.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) thinks they may run until Labor Day.

These two members of the Senate subcommittee conducting the hearings made the estimates today in suggesting that "anything and everything" that can be done to speed them up, be done.

Potter said that "unless we move faster," night session might well be held. Agreeting, Symington expressed the hope that counsel and committeemen make their questions as relevant as possible, in order to "get the witnesses on and off."

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said he "heartily endorsed" the idea of holding night sessions.

City Cemetery Operates In Black, Welch Reports

Fire, Police Budgets Strained, Says Ballard

L. J. Welch, Dixon commissioner of public property, reported Tuesday night to the city council Oakwood cemetery's financial condition is in the black for the 1953-54 fiscal year.

Welch informed the council it took $17,607.43 to operate the city cemetery, or about $1,000 under the figure appropriated for that purpose at the beginning of the fiscal year.

There was a total of $21,127.34 in cash collections during that period. With the expenditure of $17,607.43, the cemetery is left with a balance of $3,519.91.

Not Heartening

C. L. Ballard, commissioner of public health and safety, told council members the status of his department was not as heartening.

He reported the department of public health and safety had a deficit at the end of the fiscal year of $3,380.

Ballard said he would need an increased appropriation to run his department during the coming year.

He explained the department of public health and safety was in the red because of state legislative action last year increasing salaries of police and firemen after city appropriation ordinances were passed.

The council then appropriated $79,580 to operate the city's police and fire departments. It cost about $5,423.17 extra to compensate for increases in salaries.

This was true, Ballard added, even though he was forced to drop a man from the police department and one from the fire department.

Mayor Comments

Mayor William Slothower commented on Ballard's report by contending the commission had no control over action of the Illinois legislature in passing the minimum salary law for fire and police personnel.

Slothower said he felt the city was operating in good shape in comparison with many other Illinois communities which are in serious financial conditions.

The council last night amended an ordinance pertaining to the salary of the superintendent of the Dixon sewage disposal plant.

The salary was set at $4,200 a year, payable semi-monthly, and effective April 20, 1954.

Lake Co. Hit by Flat Tire Epidemic

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)— Lake county has turned from pitted windshields to flat tires.

Irate drivers in Libertyville reported a total of 38 flat tires in a short space of time Tuesday night. Police said the flats were the work of pranksters.

In nearby Waukegan, police are still wondering what caused pitted windshields over the weekend on 40 out of 48 automobiles parked in a used car lot.

Loaded Truck Overturns on State Rt. 30

A loaded semi-trailer truck overturned in a ditch on Rt. 30 about seven miles east of the junction with Rt. 52 late Tuesday night. Damage to the truck was estimated to be $5,000, but the driver, Eddie Conklin, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, escaped injury.

State Police Officer Robert Fischer, Dixon, said Conklin fell asleep while driving west on Rt. 30. The truck swerved into the ditch on the south side of the highway, traveled about 200 feet and overturned when it struck a culvert abutment. Conklin was charged with driving on the wrong side of the highway.

The truck, loaded with miscellaneous freight, was owned by Union Freightways of Chicago.

College to Return 'Model' Baby to Its Unwed Mother

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A baby boy who has served as a live model in a college marriage course for girls since he was a few months old, is to be returned to his unwed mother.

Roman L. Haremski, a State Welfare Department official, said plans are being made to return the 10 months old infant to his mother next month. Haremski had objected to use of the baby at Eastern Illinois State College at Charleston.

Haremski learned of the situation last January and at that time said the baby was being deprived of the right of normal attachment to one adult. He also objected because he said there was no father person involved.

Miss Ruth Schmalhausen, supervisor of the home management course at the college, said she had obtained the boy through an arrangement with his unwed mother. The mother and child have not been identified by college officials.

Miss Schmalhausen said the girl students taking the 12 week course, all of them juniors, work in groups of four and minister to the various needs to the child. The baby lives with the supervisor in a four-bedroom, ranch type house on the campus.

Miss Schmalhausen said thechild would be returned to its mother at the end of the school year next month.

Russia Asks Evacuation Of Wounded

Suggests Participants Of War Be Invited To Geneva Parley

GENEVA (AP)—Russia proposed today an immediate meeting of representatives of French Union forces and the Communist-led Vietminh to discuss evacuation of wounded from Dien Bien Phu, the besieged French stronghold in northwest Indochina.

It also suggested that leaders of the Vietminh, who have fought the French for more than seven years, be invited to participate in the Geneva debate on peace in Indochina—along with representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Russia, Red China and the three associated states of Indochina—Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. With the exception of the Vietminh, the French have proposed the same list.

Private Meeting

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov advanced the proposal at a private meeting with French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, their second in as many days at the Geneva conference.

Bidault had asked that the evacuation of "hundreds and hundreds" of wounded from Dien Bien Phu be agreed before deciding on the nations which will participate in talks here on peace in Indochina.

The wounded are under treatment in dugout shelters of the Indochina fortress. Vietminh guns block French planes from landing there. The rebels have denied a request from the garrison commander, Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, for a brief truce to permit evacuation of the wounded.

Other Developments

The Soviet proposal came amid these other developments in Geneva and abroad bearing on the Asian parley:

1. Secretary of State Dulles rejected North Korea's proposal for unification elections, saying it was a scheme "designed to destroy the authority of the existing (Seoul) government and to replace it by a Communist puppet regime." He called for general elections under United Nations supervision.

2. In Seoul, a spokesman for President Syngman Rhee's government termed the North Korean plan, advanced Tuesday by Foreign Minister Nam Il, a trap and "completely unacceptable."

3. Diplomatic informants in London said the United States is urging its Western allies publicly to pledge help quickly for France in resisting Communist aggression. However, as outlined there would be no direct ultimatum to Red China. Britain and France have opposed an ultimatum.

Seek "Freeze"

4. A reliable source said the United States, Britain and France have agreed there can be no cease fire in Indochina without safeguards to insure that the military situation remains frozen during negotiations for a political settlement.

This source said there was no inclination on the part of either the British or the French to agree to a cease-fire without some machinery for guaranteeing the present lines.

Both the French and British previously had been reported anxious for a halt to the fighting, even if it entailed some risk. The United States was reported insisting on safeguards to protect the French military positions.

Announce Soil Saving Contest

By GEORGE D. PERISHO
Ogle Farm Adviser

OREGON—This being Soil Conservation week, it is well for all of us to keep in mind the importance of conserving the resources that we now have. As farmers you may want to increase your present conservation practice; if so, I would suggest you contact one of the soil conservation directors from Ogle county. They are Russell Hammer, Polo, chairman; Leo DeVries, Forreston; August Meier, Leaf River; Ivor Rolfe, Creston, and Paul Dutcher, Rochelle.

Local townspeople and students may want to visit farms in Ogle county that are practicing soil conservation now to see some of the many things that can be done to conserve our resources. This is a rather appropriate time to announce the "Save Your Soil for Illinois" contest sponsored by the state department of agriculture. The purpose of this contest is to recognize outstanding accomplishments in conservation in accordance with the resources available to each contestant. By means of this recognition of this contest it is hoped that many others will be encouraged to practice conservation. Another objective is to emphasize the importance of soil and water conservation to every citizen in Illinois.

Farm operators who are residents of Illinois and receive the major part of their income from their farm operations are eligible to compete in this contest. The winners will be selected on the following basis: (1) A well organized plan of farming operation which takes into consideration the physical resources of the farm will receive 50 points. (2) Progress made in establishment of a soil conservation program, time and resources are taken into consideration—35 points. (3) Improved standard of living as a direct result of increased income from conservation farming, part of which is reflected in the general appearance and neatness of the farm—15 points.

If you would like to participate in this contest, it would be well for you to contact John Conroy, soil conservation technician, or one of the above named directors as soon as possible.

Speaking of conserving our resources, another method of conservation is by planting a windbreak. "A windbreak could save hundreds of dollars annually in feed and fuel costs by protecting the farmstead from cold winter winds." This statement was made by Gordon Cunningham, extension forester from the University of Illinois, at recent windbreak planting demonstrations held at the Eugene Wilkinson farm near Creston and the Donald Stukenberg farm near Forreston.

Cunningham directed the planting of Douglas fir trees to start a new windbreak at these farms, consisting of three rows of trees spaced 14 feet apart in and between the rows according to university recommendations. Many Ogle county farm families stopped at the farms in the course of the demonstration and learned that an efficient windbreak requires densely foliaged trees that retain their leaves through the winter when protection is needed and that grow at satisfactory rates. Both Douglas fir and Norway spruce meet these requirements. Further information on windbreaks may be obtained at your local farm adviser's office.

Several farmers are calling in requesting information on controlling aphids, spittlebugs and clover leaf weevil. I assume that the warm weather of this week will bring increased number of insects and more of us will be confronted with serious damage by early next week. Treatment for clover leaf weevil is warranted if the count averages six weevils or more in a six inch square around an individual plant. BHC is the best general insecticide to use in controlling all three of these insects. Use .3 of a pound of gamma isomer per acre. The more water you use per acre the better the results. We prefer about 10 gallons of water per acre.

* * *

While talking about legumes most of us are primarily concerned with getting out on pasture as soon as possible, and Curtis Brickey of near Dixon is ready to testify that we must be very careful in pasturing legumes when they are still wet with dew or rain. Bloat takes a serious toll of farm animals at this time of year.

Some of the things that you can do to prevent losses from bloat are: (1) Keep your animals off pastures that are still wet from dew or rain. (2) Gradually increase the time that cattle are on pasture. Start with about one hour the first day. (3) Don't put your cattle on pasture while they are hungry. Feed them some well-cured hay or dry straw first. (4) If you have had trouble from bloat, wait until the legumes in your pasture have stopped growing and have bloomed before you turn cattle in. (5) Use a pasture mixture of half grass and half legumes.

Milk and Butter Boys Now Face Two Fresh Problems

By SAM DAWSON

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The milk and butter boys — long beset by housewives irate over prices and taxpayers disgusted over surpluses—say today they face two fresh troubles:

1. Prices are slipping at wholesale, even below the new and lower support levels set this month by the government — while the dairy farmers' costs stay high and pinch the profit margin. And now Uncle Sam is talking about selling his surplus butter at a loss, to bring the retail price down to about 45 cents a pound.

2. Sparse rain over much of the dairy area has tended to hold back the grass. The cows, perhaps tired of winter fare, aren't giving as they should on the eve of the industry's traditionally lushest season for milk, butter and cheese production.

Less Per Cow

The dairymen may be getting less per cow and also getting less per quart.

Creamerymen add that the possible drop in output per cow supposing the rains don't keep pastures up to taste in the next two months won't bolster prices much because in many cases herds are larger this year, making up for any holding back by bossy. And anyway the huge store of milk products bought up by the government to sustain prices will hang over the market.

If the result is lower dairy incomes, it will be sad for the farmer, who contends he can't get along on less than he now makes, but also sad for the manufacturers who supply him and the merchants in the nearby towns.

More Dairy Products

Since the dairy industry has been producing more milk, cheese and butter than consumers will buy at the prices the government set, why don't the farmers cut their herds, especially now that the support price is down?

Foes of the price support policy contend it's because the dairy farmer is still "just producing milk and butter to sell Uncle Sam."

But the production manager of the Land O'Lakes Creameries Inc., which does a 141 million dollar a year business in this area, has talked to farmers hereabouts. He says the following is a typical example of why some farmers are milking more cows this year.

When the price of livestock dropped last year, dairy farmers who had thought of selling cows to the meat packers held on to them instead. Their reasoning: They'd rather do the extra work of caring for two or three more cows and get the additional milk to sell—even at the lower price—because that might help prop their total income. And they need the money.

Footloose Auto Hits 3 Others

Minor damage resulted Monday afternoon in a four-car mishap in Dixon when an unoccupied vehicle rolled away from its parking place and scraped three other cars.

According to Dixon police, the incident occurred in the 300 block on First street. The roving car belongs to Mrs. Anna Komasa, 911 Ninth st., Dixon.

Police reported the Komasa car was parked on the north side of the street, headed west.

When it began to roll, it scraped a parked car owned by Miss Agnes Florence, superintendent of nurses, KSB hospital.

It continued on and scraped a car belonging to Thomas Winebrenner, Rt. 3, Dixon, and finally halted when it ran into a parked vehicle of Fred Johnson, 417 Fifth st.

Ogle Co. Jury Indicts Three For Robbery

The Ogle county grand jury Monday indicted three men who admitted staging a robbery Feb. 10 at the Cross diner, Creston.

Charged with armed robbery and larceny are Roy Zentz, 32, and Evans Blanton, 29, both of Rock Falls, and Blanton's older brother, Arthur, 33, New Bedford, Bureau county.

The trio also admitted a number of other armed robberies in Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin.

They now are being held in Henry county awaiting trial on a charge of attempting a holdup Feb. 12 in Hooppole, just south of the Whiteside county line.

A total of $240 and three watches were obtained in the Creston holdup when the trio held Roderick Cross, the owner, and four customers at gunpoint for several minutes.

The grand jury returned 13 indictments. Hearings for the defendants will be held by Circuit Judge Leon A. Zick on Wednesday.

Adam Ketchem and Ray Wren, both of Rochelle, were indicted on charges of larceny. They allegedly stole overcoats from a Creston dance hall last winter.

Indictments charging burglary and larceny were returned against Donald McKinney, Curtis Strang, Billy Elmore and James Fowler, all of Sycamore.

Dale Harolle, Rochelle, was indicted on a child abandonment charge.

Eldon Warkentain, Roscoe; Maurice Charlton, Loves Park, and Robert E. Lee, Belvidere, were indicted for burglary of a Stillman Valley tavern earlier this year.

Freedom of the Press

Part One

Editor's Note: The public's right to knowledge of the functions of the courts, public agencies and public officials is in practice the right of newspapers to that information. Yet the press is not always allowed access to what is traditionally the public record. Here is a nation-wide summary of recent victories and defeats in the continuing battle for freedom of the press.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When the nation's founding fathers established freedom of the press, how far did they intend that freedom to go?

Where, if any place, did they intend to draw the line on press coverage—and thus public knowledge—of the functions of the courts, public officials and public agencies?

The press has long battled to protect the public's interest in public matters—especially to insure that it is fully informed on all such activities.

A survey of the nation shows that considerable recent progress in this respect has been made. Some notable efforts have been lost, too. But the fight goes on.

• • •

The press' fight for full access to the news has led to various interpretations in the past few months.

A major case centered around oleo heir Minot F. Mickey Jelke, who was convicted in New York on vice charges relating to compulsory prostitution.

Judge Francis L. Valente of the General Sessions court barred the press and public from the courtroom during presentation of the state's case against Jelke.

The judge said he felt that lurid testimony of admitted call girls might endanger public morals, and that under law he had the power to close the court.

New York newspapers and two press services protested the ban, to no avail.

They then appealed to the state supreme court which refused to nullify Judge Valente's action.

Continuing the battle, the press group took its case to the Appellate division of the state Supreme court. The court pondered the matter, and in the meantime the Jelke trial proceeded to its conclusion.

Finally, in a 3-2 decision, the Appellate court sidestepped any decision as to whether press and public were lawfully barred from the trial.

The majority opinion said "freedom of the press is not involved," and that the press lacked "the right to institute this proceeding."

It added that Jelke himself was the proper person to appeal if he felt that Valente's order interfered with his right to a fair trial.

The minority of the court said in an opinion that the trial should have been kept open.

It said the public had a historic right to know what was taking place in the courtroom.

• • •

Jelke eventually was sentenced to a three to six-year term, and appealed on the grounds that he was not given a public trial.

As yet, there has been no decision by the Court of Appeals.

Any question as to whether public boards and commissions should be open to press and public was settled in Ohio last year by the legislature itself.

The legislature passed a law requiring that all such state groups —there are more than 100 of them—hold open meetings with the exception of the pardon and parole commission.

The latter can have closed meetings when interviewing prisoners at penal institutions.

Meanwhile, the Columbus city council also approved an ordinance making public all meetings of municipal boards and commissions.

In Arkansas, the last legislature also passed a bill requiring all public board meetings to be open—but left a loophole.

• • •

Reports from other areas:

New Jersey—The state Supreme Court requested newsmen to delay reporting hearings in disciplinary cases brought against lawyers.

Chief Justice Arthur T. Vanderbilt said that "when stories about the alleged wrongdoings of these attorneys are carried in the press and they are later acquitted, they are done irreparable harm."

He asked the press to carry no details until the cases were decided.

• • •

The New Jersey public information committee, made up of press, broadcasters' and photographers' associations, asked the chief justice for clarification of the matter. The committee, headed by Hugh Boyd, general manager of the New Brunswick Home News, also took it up with the governor.

A few days later, the court's request was withdrawn. The chief justice gave no explanation except to say that there had been "no unanimity" on his request.

• • •

Illinois—The budgetary commission of the state legislature on March 8 agreed to open its hearings to newsmen after a fight led by the Freedom of Information committee of the Associated Press newspapers in Illinois.

The committee also plans a clinic at Springfield on May 14, with the governor and other state officials participating with newspaper, radio and TV representatives.

Discussions will include the rights of access to state offices, legislative hearings, legislative sessions and the courts.

• • •

New Hampshire—The Claremont Daily Eagle won at least a partial victory in a long battle over access to records of closed door executive sessions of the school board. The closed meetings followed the regular, open sessions.

The state's attorney general finally ruled that the board could hold closed sessions, but that any decisions reached must be made known to the press.

• • •

Massachusetts—Considerable progress has been reported in a drive to institute the open door policy for municipal and state governing groups, despite failure of state legislation.

A device now is available for typewriters that protects the works from erasure debris. Normally, the device rides in a convenient position on the carriage. When erasures are to be made, it is leaned against the platen and the erasure debris rolls down into its small gutter.

Population of Latin-America, including the West Indies, will triple in 47 years if the present growth rate continues.

Amusement World Revives Old Welcome to Children

News item with a Dallas, Tex., dateline: "There'll be baby sitting at the Dallas Texas league ball park this year.

"The club is installing a 'Kiddie Klub,' where the parents may park the smallfry while they watch the ball games.

"There will be movies, funny books and games for the kids in a special air-conditioned room. The city health department has licensed the baby sitters."

Well, now, there's one more place where parents can go without worrying about the baby-sitter problem.

Now it is the entertainment world that has adopted that old, hospitable phrase—"Come and bring the children."

It's a good thing, too. For that homey invitation has fallen in disfavor with many individuals.

The dinner invitation these days rarely includes the children. The tacit understanding is: "You get a baby sitter, and we'll have our children in their rooms and out of the way by the time you get here."

RARE TREAT FOR TODAY'S CHILDREN

So it is a rare thing for many of today's children to get to spend an evening out with their parents —unless it is an evening of paid-for entertainment.

No longer do couples feel free to load the children in the car and go calling on friends.

If they want to take them out, they go where they know the children are welcome. They look for a place that SELLS entertainment.

It's a sound, healthy phrase—"Come and bring the children."

And since it is so seldom used by individuals these days, it is good that the theaters and ball parks are making it their own.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The Men. Movie screens are getting bigger, films more expensive, and TV's moving into color and big-spectacle shows.

And Danny Kaye's wondering if there's a chance for a big vaudeville comeback.

Not the old four- or five-a-day routines, but the type of show he's made popular in New York and London, an hour and 40 minutes of Danny, with five supporting acts on a once-nightly basis.

Danny was a pioneer as to touring-in-the-flesh star, and he hits the road again now that his new movie, "Knock on Wood," is playing across the land. Like Danny, Betty Hutton, Jack Benny, Judy Garland and Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis make regular stage tours.

Danny's saying: "It could mean a revival of vaudeville brighter than in its heyday."

• • •

Victor Mature is whistling, "it ain't gonna rain suspensions no mo'."

At least not on Vic, who's taken a look at Hollywood, 1954, with dollar-assessing eyes.

"I'll do anything before I take a suspension," he told me on the set of "The Egyptian."

"There's just no way for anybody to make me take one. This is not the time in our business to be temperamental — not when studios that made 52 pictures are now down to making only 12 a year."

• • •

There's no "But where's the plot?" worry-frown on Gene Autry's face as he rides the celluloid range every week on home screens.

His 26½-minute TV westerns, he says, have just as much plot as the average 70-minute hoss operas Hollywood has been turning out ever since Billy the Kid was a kid.

"We just eliminate the padding, that's all," says Gene. "We tell the same story without 44 minutes of chases, scenery and sunsets. A one-minute chase can be just as exciting."

Gene's as much of a TV celluloid baron these days as he is a cowpoke star. His Flying "A" Production grinds out his own show, plus three other telefilm series, "Range Rider," Annie Oakley" and "Death Valley Days."

• • •

Will there be future movie and TV roles as creeps, stranglers or maniacs for Peter Lorre, the little man with the boiled-egg eyes and murderous whine?

Playing a gentle scientist in Walt Disney's "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," the mild-mannered character star told me:

"There isn't a mean streak in me, but for money and a good part I can be mean. But my relation to audiences is very curious. No matter what I do, they don't hate me. They have a lot of fun with me. It's peculiar. I've never been able to find out what it is.

"But I'm grateful."

• • •

Let that five o'clock shadow show, young fellows, and don't worry if your face looks like a washboard has been slammed against it.

You can beat the jinx against lads under 30 in Hollywood, says Rory Calhoun, "if you look roughed-up around the edges."

Calhoun should know. After a couple of movies, Hollywood decided his unlined, boyish face wasn't interesting.

"Nobody would give me a job," he confesses. "I was too young-looking.

"So I retired for a year and farmed some ground rather than run up bills in Hollywood."

Now back in Movietown, looking almost as tough and beat-up as John Wayne, Calhoun's playing a role tailored for Clark Gable in U-I's "Dawn at Socorro," and laughing, "I guess I finally have that used-up quality."

• • •

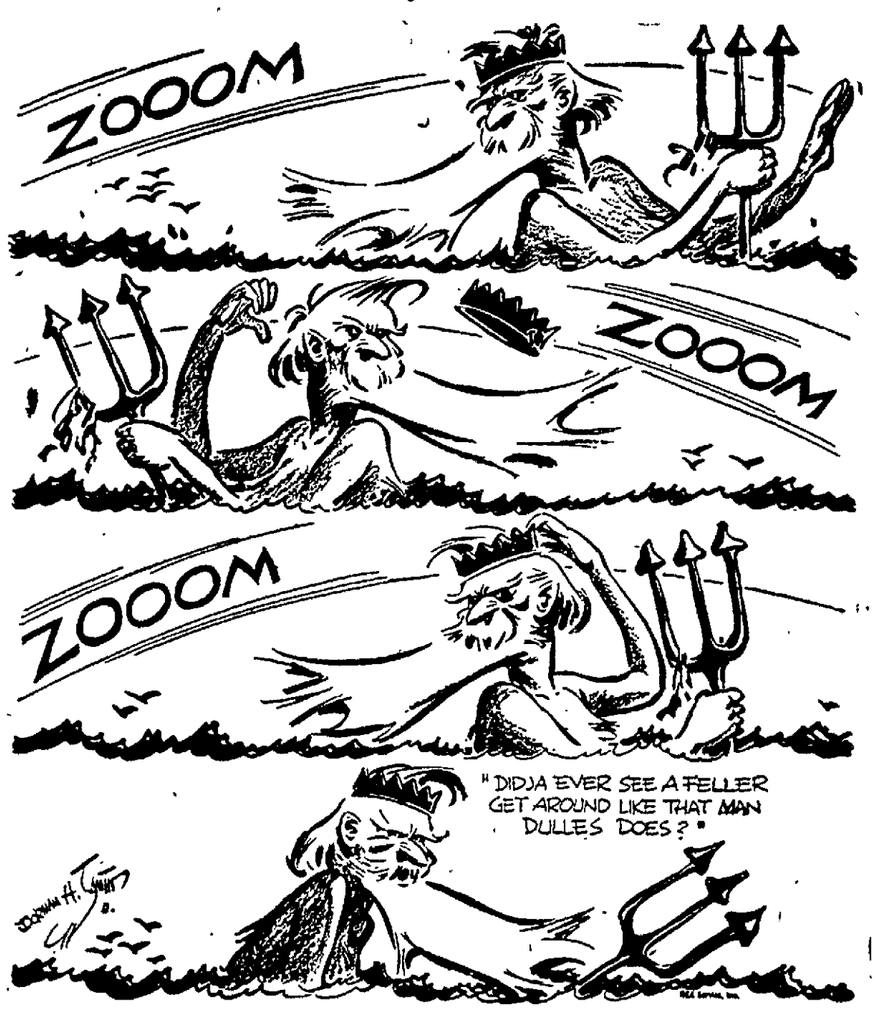
Alan Young's plastered a "Caution—Danger" sign on his TV career and adopted a look-before-he-leaps policy.

He's agreed to an every-other-week live appearance on the "Show of Shows"; as a summer replacement, but an on-film story-line series will be his fall offering.

Winning out for film as a regular diet, he says: "Four years ago you went on TV and didn't think anything about it.

"You lay one egg today, and you're in trouble. Audiences got smart."

Practically a Commuter



Westbrook Pegler

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK—The Savannah Morning News, which has seemed to regard me as a credit to our noble profession, nevertheless took me to the wood-shed last week in an editorial on the subject of the American press. I am not a journalist of the other-handed school. I hold that the only side of any question that a newspaper should present is that it honestly deems to be the right side. I hold, too, of course, that the editor should define his terms and support his contentions with information, but I despise that school which argues, as a considerable number of editors do, that it owes its readers a duty to present the political contentions of a party and its partisans which plainly flout the letter and spirit of the Constitution. All phases of social security and most phases of unionism, including the labor relations board and the Taft-Hartley law, fall within this group.

Westbrook Pegler

I admit that the Savannah News was right in scolding me for "carping in far too general terms" and I invite your attention to a going-over which presents some new thoughts of one of the most important public issues of the day.

The News says it considers some of my remarks to have been unkind and unfair. I agree that, as to many papers, including this one, that is a valid criticism and I beg pardon. However, the ensuing thought that I "excoriate the profession which furnishes him a good living" seems weak because the press, as an institution, falls within the critical purview of the press itself. To keep a still tongue out of gratitude for a good living is not morally admirable, although it certainly is good manners.

"Contrary to his usual practice of fully documenting his charges, Mr. Pegler cites only a couple of specific instances in which he claims the press has erred," the editorial continues. "One is publication by the Henry Luce interests of news matter which is obviously editorialized upon to a great degree. Another was the action of the late William Randolph Hearst in throwing the Democratic party nomination to Franklin Roosevelt in 1932. Such are blows which it is patently unfair to direct against the press as a whole. The Luce publications make no bones about the fact that many of their news stories are open or very thinly disguised editorial. They have, they claim, a new style of journalism which does this sort of thing purposefully in full awareness of the obvious fact that they are flying in the face of traditional journalistic ethics and practices.

"Such is their privilege. We do not agree with their ethics or practices, nor, we think, does any but a very small segment of the national press, as a whole, agree with them. But we will defend their right to speak as they please. We just as staunchly defend the same right of Mr. Pegler who is a 14-karat editorialist himself and doubtless proud of the fact.

"As for Mr. Hearst throwing his weight to Roosevelt in 1932, we would say that he was simply exercising his privilege and responsibility as a citizen in taking a direct hand in national politics. As such, he was no more speaking for the press of the nation than was any industrialist who did the same thing for his particular industry.

"Mr. Pegler's references are very weak arguments on which to indict the national press. What could have been a far stronger one, had he documented it further, is the slap he takes at another national columnist and the papers which print him. If we guess correctly, this is the same columnist who was tossed summarily out of this newspaper some years ago when he was caught in at least two bald-faced falsehoods. Many other newspapers at the time and since have given him the same treatment. Yet, this columnist continues, we regret to say, to be published in a large number of papers . . .

"This newspaper would be the last to deny that the U. S. press has faults. There are current now a number of trends which we deplore. Pyramiding costs have forced too many mergers. We are forced to use too many relatively untrained people or take other shortcuts which inevitably are productive of errors . . .

'But, by and large, each paper remains an entity with virtues and faults peculiarly its own . . . There is not a spot in this country where a reader cannot obtain in full variety those newspapers which best suit his tastes or which he respects."

There is a little more but I believe I am not unfair in stopping at this point with a courteous rejoinder that I find flaws as well as merit in the foregoing. To close, I call attention to some strong pertinent thought on the same general theme by the New York Daily News. The News says the McCarthy "trial" has "produced a curious reaction in many of the most respectable (if less and less respected) newspapers. These publications pay a great deal of lip-service to the old American principle that a man is to be presumed innocent until found guilty. But in the case now before the bar of U.S. opinion, these papers are convicting Senator McCarthy daily of high crimes and misdemeanors — and not only in their editorial columns, but also in what purport to be news stories but are actually editorials printed without shame or warning in the news columns.

Unquestionably, the press is under public scrutiny and suspicion, mostly, I think, because of the conduct of the New York Times and Herald Tribune, which has been a dramatic shock to the people and a blow to the whole Fourth Estate.

So They Say

Oh, sure, we talked. On the first tee (Ben) Hogan put out his hand and said "Good luck." I put out my hand and said "Good luck," too. I didn't mean it, either.
—Sam Snead after beating Hogan in play-off.

If he (Senator McCarthy) will make the charges (against me) without senatorial immunity, I will guarantee a lawsuit that he will not be able to stop.
—H. Struve Hensel.

I am better equipped than Miss Monroe and Miss Russell. I have much more than . . you know, of everything.
—Simone Silva, British actress.

• • •

We (U.S.) have a right to know in advance which nations are willing to contribute their fair share of the undertaking (stopping aggression). They have no right to expect help if they are in trouble if they are unwilling to give help when other free nations are in trouble.

Smokehouse!

PULASKI, Va. (AP) — It is natural for a smokehouse to smoke, but those who cure meat know that there is a limit. Firemen called by neighbors to the property of Roy L. Bevil put out the fire accidentally started by small boys playing in the building.

The Doctor Says:

Science Hasn't Yet Revealed Cause of Mongoloid Children

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

"I have a mongoloid baby, but have missed reading your remarks on this condition" writes an anxious mother.

Although, as the writer said, I have had columns on mongoloid children before, this is a subject of continuing interest and does deserve discussion from time to time.

The birth of a mongoloid child comes wholly unexpectedly, and is naturally a terrible shock to parents, relatives and friends. This is a condition of delayed mental development, associated also with physical differences from normal.

• • •

IN A MONGOLOID infant the skull is small and round, the eyeslits narrow and tilted. The cheeks are characteristically cherry red, the hair is coarse, the tongue tends to protrude, the teeth come in late, and the nose is stubby and depressed.

These phyiscal signs are responsible for the name because of the supposed resemblance of such an infant to the far-eastern race known as Mongols.

Innumerable possible causes have been investigated, and most of them have been discarded. About the only thing which seems certain is that on the average, that is statistically, older mothers have a somewhat greater chance of bearing a mongoloid child than young mothers.

• • •

EVEN THIS, however, does not mean that the vast majority of children of older mothers will not be perfectly normal.

One thing is sure: Parents should not blame themselves if they have a mongoloid child, neither should they feel that the obstetrician, the diet, or any other known factor is responsible for this tragic event.

The diagnosis of mongolism can be made at or shortly after birth. Since mental development will never proceed very far, most doctors recommend that a mongoloid infant should be separated from the parents just as soon as possible and cared for in an institution.

• • •

NATURALLY, this is a difficult thing to contemplae, but it seems much better both from the standpoint of the parents, and particularly from that of other children in the family who are likely to be perfectly normal.

Prospective mothers should not worry about this too much. There is only about one chance in a thousand that any child will be mongoloid.

Even if one has had one mongoloid child, the chances are still 19 or 20 to one that subsequent children will be normal.

What's Wrong With Sharing Just Pure Joy With a Child?

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

I've just finished reading seven enchanting stories for children. They appear in Story-a-Day, a new weekly magazine for youngsters.

It's the production of a brave editor. For the tales he offers give children No Useful Information.

They do not provide Jimmy with a thinly disguised geography lesson by reporting the Market Day experiences of those Mexican twins, Juanito and Juanita. They don't attempt to instruct him on the operation of modern dairies by recounting the adventures of his morning Milk Bottle.

They just content themselves with offering Jimmy joyous entertainment.

I couldn't believe it. And sure enough I found that someone had indeed felt guilty at asking me to comment on stories that offer mere joy to the young.

In a letter that accompanied my copy of them, I was asked to note that their occasional Big Words would "extend Jimmy's vocabulary." And that by reading them to him, his parents would "build a healthy family relationship."

With this reassurance, I presume we are expected to relax. Remembering that we are extending Jimmy's vocabulary and cementing our family relationships, we can settle down to share joy with him with a clear moral conscience.

I think that this distrust of joy that serves No Useful Purpose is quite typical of many of us, affecting many of our attitudes toward children as well as toward ourselves.

It is, for instance, what closes our eyes to a small one's delight in buttoning his own coat, because he is slow. It's what makes impatient interruptions of a just-emerging crayon picture because supper is ready.

It's what drives us to overwork resentfully in the kitchen while others are enjoying television. It accounts for much of our morbid self-sacrifice to children and for a great, great deal of jealousy.

Well, I do not regard joy as an offense to God. Instead, I regard it as far more useful to Jimmy and us than getting coats buttoned quickly or all the information he can acquire on Mexican customs or the operation of modern dairies.

So I take pleasure in recommending Story-a-Day to the parents who read this column. I suggest that we read it with Jimmy, not to enlarge his vocabulary or promote our reltaionship to him, but because there's joy in it for both of us.

The rest will come naturally.

What's Right?

Most women know better than to ask another woman the point-blank question, "How old are you?" But those who are really curious don't let that stand in their way. They keep asking questions and doing mental arithmetic — until they are able to figure out a woman's age.

Only trouble is, it is so obvious what they are doing, that they might as well ask the forbidden question.

It always sounds friendlier when greeting an acquaintance to call him by name. It's not only proof that you remember exactly who he is, it seems as though he is more of a person to you.

"Hello" is all right, but "Hello, Jim" is better.

Lasting Marriage

SNOHOMISH½ Wash. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Anton Herger, spry and alert, will observe their 74th wedding anniversary Aug 21.

Herger, who has been retired from farming and logging for 20 years, concedes "I'm not the man I used to be" when it comes to trimming his fruit trees.

"I hate to see him go up on the ladder," Mrs. Herger volunteered.

'Talking About Fashion' by Christian Dior

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

A new fashion may be born on a restaurant bill of fare, a tablecloth or a hotel room blotter, reveals Christian Dior in his first book, "Talking About Fashion," due in book stores this week.

The quiet Frenchman, whose fame has spread around the world since he fathered the New Look in 1947, says he stumbled into dress designing by chance when first faced with the necessity of earning a living after a somewhat aimless youth. A friend encouraged him to sketch some models, which immediately were bought by various Paris couturiers—and a career was launched. It took 12 years for that career to burst into full bloom, however—years of learning the tricks of the trade and the war years when Paris was cut off from the free world.

Dior designed for Lucien Lelong and Robert Piguet before he opened his own salon in 1947, backed by Marcel Boussac, French textile king. Now there are few women in Europe or America who have not heard of this man who looks a little like a balding bookkeeper, but who has changed the look of international fashion.

As to how a fashion is born, Dior writes:

". . . There is every season a certain 'spirit' in fashions.

"Actually it is the public which creates this spirit. It is made up of several elements. The first is the atmosphere of the moment—what is going on in the world; the second is logic; the third chance; the fourth the choice made by the magazines."

Once a fashion is a success, continues Dior, it starts to die:

"When the fashion spreads so widely as to become the general fashion, it automatically becomes unfashionable."

Highlanders' Bagpipe Band Will Play Here

In the concert to be presented on May 7 by the colorful Scottish Highlanders bagpipe band from the University of Iowa, Miss Mary Fagan of Amboy will represent the "local" talent, as a member of this well-known university band.

The pipers will make their first appearance in Dixon, at the Dixon high school auditorium, when the program to be presented will be as follows:

1. Bagpipe band selections—(a) The Blue Bells of Scotland; (b) Maggersfontain.
2. The Highland Fling.
3. Sorcerer's Apprentice.
4. Scheherazade.
5. A cappella chorus—(a) Just a Wee Doch and Doris; (b) John Anderson, My Jo; (c) Medley.
6. Bagpipe band selections—(a) Scotland the Brave; (b) Over the Sea to Skye.
7. Sword Dance.
8. Ravel's Bolero.
9. Drum Dance.
10. A cappella chorus—(a) Bonnie Dundee; (b) Men of Harlech; (c) Will Ye No Come Back Agin'.
11. Highland Fling, by all the Highlanders.
12. Auld Lang Syne.

The Sword Dance is the most spectacular of the Scottish dances. As an added novelty feature, four girls perform over one sword in contrast to the version of one dancer to each sword. In the drum dance, the most outstanding presentation of the Highlanders, a lassie performs the highland fling on a bass drum held high in the air on the shoulders of several of her fellow members. William Adamson is the director of the band. There is much competition to become a member of this outstanding band, for which the girls are chosen for appearance and musical background.

The Service club is sponsoring the Scottish Highlanders' concert in Dixon, as a benefit for the KSB hospital's pathology department. Mrs. Henry Utley is general chairman for the performance, and she has appointed the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Charles Marshall, tickets; Mrs. Mark Keller, publicity; Mrs. Arnold Swan, ushers; Mrs. George Nichols, programs; Mrs. William Gunner and Mrs. John Selgestad, posters; Mrs. John Roe, housing. The members of the Service club will entertain the young ladies in the band for dinner before the concert, and in their homes overnight following the performance.

Brain-Washed Marine Is Cleared by Special Court

'Usefulness Impaired,' Though, Says Panel in Germ War Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military future of Col. Frank H. Schwable was shrouded in uncertainty today even though his superiors had decided not to try the bemedaled flying Marine for signing a false germ warfare confession while a prisoner of the Reds in Korea.

The Marine Corps Tuesday announced the findings of a special court of three generals and an admiral which sat for a month, considering the case of the 45-year-old colonel who has 23 years of service and a World War II combat record behind him. The panel said Schwable's conduct was "excusable on the ground that it was the result of mental torture."

The court's recommendations were reviewed and approved by Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Marine Corps commandant, Secretary of the Navy Anderson and Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Sifts Evidence

The special panel did not sit as a court-martial. Rather, it was convened to sift the evidence and decide whether Schwable, the highest ranking Marine captured in the Korean War, should be formally tried for making the confession that he immediately repudiated when freed after 14 months of captivity.

Its recommendations could set a precedent for the handling of one other Marine and 33 Air Force pilots who made similar confessions while in Communist hands. The Reds made propaganda use of these confessions in an effort to prove to the world that the U. N. forces used germ weapons against the Chinese and North Koreans.

During his month-long hearing that ended March 15, Schwable detailed in graphic terms the physical degradation and mental torture to which the Reds submitted him before he broke and signed the confession. But he insisted that he gave the Communists no military information of value.

Usefulness Impaired

In reviewing the court's findings, Shepherd and Anderson said they felt Schwable's "military usefulness has been seriously impaired."

And Shepherd termed Schwable's confession — even though under great stress — a "severe blow to the national interest by one whose sole motivation should have been to foster and preserve it."

As a consequence, said the Marine commandant, Schwable's future duties would have to be those tasks "making minimum demands upon the elements of unblemished personal example and leadership."

The court found that Schwable violated Navy regulations by giving the enemy more than his name, rank and serial number. It held also that his false confession "brought discredit upon the United States" and gave "aid and comfort to the enemy."

But it recommended against a formal court-martial on the ground that he resisted to the limit of his ability a "diabolical method of torture which combines degradation, deprivation and mental harassment, and which is aimed at the destruction of the individual's will to resist."

Hit-and-Run Driver Fined $25 Here

Harold Fager, 811 S. Division st., Polo, today was fined $25 and costs in a Dixon justice court, when he pleaded guilty to a hit-and-run traffic charge.

Fager was accused of driving his car into a Yellow Cab in Dixon last night, then fleeing the scene of the accident. He was picked up in Sterling and held for Dixon authorities. Chief of Police Frank Tyne and Sgt. Earl Keichner brought Fager to Dixon today.

Art Mills, driver of the cab, spotted the auto license on Fager's car and reported the incident to police headquarters here. The crash occurred at River street and Galena avenue.

McCarthy

asking questions as though they were facts, without any evidence being introduced to show they were facts, drew retorts from Democratic senators.

Both Sens. Jackson (Wash) and McClellan (Ark) said that earlier in the hearings McCarthy had asked whether career diplomat Samuel Reber left the State department while under investigation on security charges.

The two Democrats said McCarthy had put that question at Maj. Gen. Miles Reber, the first witness called by the Army, without any evidence being offered in support of the charge. The two Rebers are brothers.

'Absolutely Relevant'

McClellan said Jenkins' questioning was "absolutely relevant" to the Army's charge that preferential treatment was sought for Schine and obtained.

Before the row over this line of questioning by Jenkins, Stevens had testified he never heard Army Counselor John G. Adams offer to furnish McCarthy with information about "a large number of homosexuals" in the Air Force.

The McCarthy camp charges that Adams did make such an offer in trying to divert McCarthy from hunting for Communists in the Army to a probe of the Air Force or Navy.

Stevens also testified that McCarthy's aides wanted basic Army training waived for Schine and Schine given an assignment in New York when he was drafted. "Of course I couldn't agree to that," Stevens said.

'True Or False'

His statement was in response to questions from Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) who took up again the series of "true or false" queries he began putting to Stevens Tuesday.

Responding to them, Stevens tabbed as "false" the central charges made against him by McCarthy and the senator's aides.

Jackson had told reporters his aim is to establish "a clear cut case" for purjury charges if there were continued flat contradictions in the hearings.

"I am trying to resolve the confusion about this controversy by asking questions for yes-or-no answers tagged directly to the federal perjury statute," he said.

As before, this fifth day of the hearings brought a wall-to-wall crowd to the Senate Office building's biggest hearing room.

Yields Stand

While it was the fifth day on which Stevens has testified, he has yielded the witness chair briefly several times.

Roy Cohn, chief counsel for McCarthy and also a principal in the dispute, held it for a time Tuesday to testify about a "cropped" picture of Stevens and Schine.

The picture, supplied by the McCarthy camp, showed Stevens and Schine alone. The Army denounced it as a "shameful trick," contending it was cropped from a group picture.

At the outset of today's hearings, McCarthy complained that Pentagon officials were ordering Army generals to attend the sessions to try to show the committee is "holding up the work of the Army."

McCarthy made this contention in what he called a "point of order." He demanded that Pentagon officials identify all the generals "ordered here" and explain why they weren't doing their work for the army.

Not Proper Point

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), presiding over the hearings, told McCarthy that was not a proper point of order. Mundt said McCarthy could quiz Stevens on the subject when McCarthy's time for cross examination came up.

Mundt added he wasn't going around the crowded senate caucus room "asking our visitors to identify themselves."

The start of the hearings was held up for 15 minutes while Mundt and others questioned behind closed doors a Pentagon employe who reportedly told a friend his boss had ordered him to destroy some recordings of monitored phone talks the subcommittee has ordered subpoenaed.

Claims Lie

McCarthy told reporters the Pentagon employe had told that to a friend but now contends he was "lying" when he said it.

The friend—reportedly an employe of the Commerce department—also was questioned in the closed door session by Mundt, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) and Ray H. Jenkins, the subcommittee's special counsel for the inquiry. They declined to comment on their interview, and wouldn't tell the names of the two government workers.

Mundt said he would discuss with the subcommittee whether to have either called for public hearing questioning.

Jackson questioned Stevens specifically today about a memorandum previously made public by McCarthy. Dated Oct. 2, 1953, it was in the form of a note from Francis P. Carr, the subcommittee's staff director, to the senator.

'Would Use Schine'

It told of Carr and Cohn meeting with Stevens at the Pentagon and quoted Stevens as saying he thought that Schine should take his initial basic training and then, he (Stevens) "would be able to use Schine to his own advantage in the army."

The memo added:

"He (Stevens) stated that he was very interested in any question of communism or Communist infiltration and that he could envision that Dave could be of great assistance to him, if after basic, he could attend some security-type school within the army and report to Stevens his observations . . ."

Jackson said the army specification of charges, referring to the same conference, said Cohn suggested a special assignment for Schine but Stevens did not agree to Cohn's suggestion.

Quotes Memorandum

Stevens insisted the army version was "true" and that the McCarthy version was not correct.

Under questioning of Sen. Potter (R-Mich), Stevens said it was "unequivocally untrue" that he ever heard Army Counselor John G. Adams suggest that the McCarthy subcommittee lay off its hunt for Communists in the army and go after the navy, the air force and the Defense department instead.

Potter asked Stevens whether he ever heard Adams say anything about "sex perverts" in the air force.

Potter quoted from a memorandum from Carr to McCarthy. It said Adams suggested going after the air force, the navy and the defense department, and that Carr replied the subcommittee had no information to warrant that.

Carr then quoted Adams as saying not to worry about that, that "there is plenty of dirt and we could furnish leads." Carr further said Stevens thought that was "the answer to the problem."

Stevens said he never heard Adams say anything like that, although he was present practically all the time when Adams allegedly made the remarks.

POWER IN A TINY PACKAGE—Barbara Kendrick, a Pentagon secretary, displays the "Lazy Dog," the Air Forces' latest weapon, in her left hand The tiny steel missile will be literally shoveled out of aircraft in volumes. Dropping from a height of 5000 feet, the weapon has a penetrating power of a .45-caliber bullet. As a comparison in size, she holds a .30-caliber bullet in her right hand.

Aly Offers $1½ Million for Settlement; Rita Undecided

NEW YORK (AP)—The stroke of Rita Hayworth's pen today could put her little daughter Yasmin in line for something like 1½ million dollars over the next 14 years.

Prince Aly Khan, Rita's ex-husband and father of 4-year-old Yasmin, agreed to settle this sum on the child and signed the necessary papers Tuesday before flying off to London.

The glamorous movie actress, however, delayed signing her part of the agreement, which would put the settlement into effect, until she had more time to study it.

The Moslem prince, son of the fabulously wealthy Aga Khan, told reporters the agreement gives him custody of little Yasmin for part of each year. He once demanded full custody of the child, first princess born in the Aga Khan's family in 200 years.

The pact, which ends 15 months of wrangling between Rita and Aly, was announced by her attorney, Bartley Crum. He gave no details.

Aly's lawyer, Charles Torem, however, told newsmen that reports of a $108,000-a-year figure were fairly close. The prince is to pay about $100,000 a year for 11 years to a fund set up for Yasmin. In addition he is to pay about $8,000 a year for her support.

Rita, who divorced Aly on Jan. 26, 1953, and eight months later married crooner Dick Haymes, had in the past feared that once Yasmin left this country to visit her father, the mother might not be able to get the child back.

Crum said arrangements have been made to avoid this situation but did not elaborate.

Cover Up!

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)— Clothing that leaves the thighs or midriff exposed would be outlawed under a proposed new city ordinance here.

It would ban the wearing by any person over 12 years of age in streets, parks or other public places of shorts, halters, swim suits or any apparel which fails to cover the body from shoulders to a point midway between hips and knees — sunbacks excepted.

Violators would get up to $150 fines and 30 days.

Earnings Slip

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Olin Industries Inc., had a first quarter consolidated income of $3,376,920, equivalent to 64 cents a share, the company announced Wednesday. This compared with $3,431,582 and 67 cents a share for the same period last year.

CITY MATADOR FACES RUNAWAY STEER—This method of subduing a runaway steer isn't recommended although it takes plenty of courage to face a wild-eyed beast while armed only with a hammer. The Hereford, which escaped from a railroad car near the stockyards in Kansas City, led pursuers on a wild chase through downtown streets. Finally cornered in front of city hall, it outmaneuvered this unidentified city matador, but was captured shortly afterward. (AP wirephoto)

Prepare Camp Lowden for Busy Boy Scout Program

New Dining Hall Built; Pool Being Refurbished

The excellent program and facilities of Camp Lowden summer camp begins Sunday, June 27, and will run for seven continuous camping periods, each period starting on Sunday afternoon and ending Saturday afternoon.

Camp Lowden is a cooperative-owned and a cooperative-operated camp of the six-county Blackhawk Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. It is located about seven miles north of Dixon on the east side of Rock river. Boy Scout troops within the six-county area (Whiteside, Lee, Ogle, Winnebago, Boone and McHenry counties) may use Camp Lowden for their long-term summer camp.

Harry G. Robinson, Sterling, chairman of Sauk district's camping committee, reports all will be in readiness for the opening day of camp. The new dining hall will serve three hot meals a day to those troops desiring not to cook their own meals. This new dining hall, now nearing completion, will be finished within a few weeks, and will be capable of seating over 200 people at one time.

Sandblast Pool

The swimming pool will be sandblasted and a new coat of paint applied before the opening day, making this huge pool even more appealing. The parking lot for cars, which was expanded last year, has been completed since the last year's camping periods and is capable of easily handling 150 cars.

The program offered at camp this summer, according to Robinson, will be as follows: Morning and evening activities for troops: Swimming, rowing and canoeing practice, canoe trips, handicraft, bait-casting, hikes of all varieties, conservation projects, rifle range, archery, field archery, cooking, fire-buildings, rope yard activities, merit badge work in swimming, life-saving, rowing, canoeing, pioneering, camping, cooking and all other merit badges pertaining to camping.

The afternoon program for patrols from each troop consists of 13 patrol instructional periods: Swimming, rifle-range, field archery, Indian-dancing, bridge-building, lashing instruction, tent-pitching, first aid, wood-sawing and splitting, signalling, compass and measuring, nature and conservation, use of canoe and rowboat.

Available campsites during each period are becoming scarce due to the great number of reservations coming in daily from troops throughout the area. Sauk district already has 15 troops registered with a campsite, and who will camp with their own adults as leaders. 1st period—Troop 100 of Sterling, Trailblazer campsite; 2nd period—Troop 62 of Amboy, Explorer campsite; Troop 101 of Erie, Pioneer campsite; 3rd period—Troop 89 of Dixon, Pioneer campsite; Troop 95 of Coleta and Troop 86 of Dixon, Explorer campsite; 4th period—Troop 90 of Sterling, Trailblazer campsite; Troop 93 of Dixon, Ranger campsite; 5th period—Troop 98 of Sterling, Blackhawk campsite; Troop 103 of Lyndon, Cuckoo Crest campsite; Troop 107 of Nachusa, Explorer campsite; Troop 94 of Prophetstown, Highlander campsite; Troop 113 of Tampico, Pioneer campsite; 6th period—Troop 106 of Fenton, Blackhawk campsite, and Troop 109 of Ashton, Ranger campsite.

Announce Policies

Robinson announced that the camping policies regarding adult leadership and camp fees for the summer of 1954 are as follows: Any number of adults may camp with the troop at no charge to the adults as long as they are camping and giving leadership to their troop while in camp. Troops that camp with their own adult leadership and eat at the new dining lodge will use the camp fee of $14.50 per boy. Boys that come to camp with troops that do not bring their own adults as leaders, and who will eat at the new dining lodge, will use the camp fee of $17.50 per boy. Troops that come with their own adult leaders and wish to bring their own food and cook all of their own meals will use the camp fee of $6 per boy.

Boys wishing to go to summer Boy Scout camp, should contact the troop they are most interested in joining. If this troop is planning to attend camp with their own adult leadership (Scoutmaster, assistants, committeemen, dads of boys in troop or other men who are interested in the development of boys) there is a good possibility they will take new boys to camp with them. If the troop is not going to camp with their own adults as leaders, then this troop should contact the council office in Rockford and make reservations.

All Men Eligible

Robinson urges all men in all communities to consider themselves eligible to camp with a troop of boys, if they have the approval of the troop committee. Men interested should contact their local scout troops. "All fathers of Boy Scouts should be interested enough in their boy to spend a few days with the troop at camp during at least one summer that their boy is a Boy Scout," says the council camping committee of the Blackhawk Area Council, of which Robinson is an active member.

Senators Will Call 3 Fired FHA Officials

Senator Byrd Demands Powell Be Prosecuted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators called today for testimony from three veteran Federal Housing Administration officials who quit or lost their jobs in the wake of revelations of multimillion-dollar abuses under certain of FHA's loan-insurance programs.

Summoned by the Senate Banking Committee were Burton C. Bovard, suspended FHA general counsel; Howard M. Murphy, resigned associate counsel; and Walter Greene, who retired last week as deputy FHA commissioner.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department had before it a demand by Sen. Byrd (D-Va) that it start "immediate legal proceedings" against a fourth ousted FHA official—Clyde L. Powell, former assistant FHA commissioner for rental housing.

Reveals Letter

Byrd made public Tuesday a letter he sent to Atty. Gen. Brownell describing Powell as "the key official" allegedly involved in "overvaluations of properties . . . resulting in windfalls (to apartment builders) to the extent of 100 million dollars or more."

The Virginia senator said that "it was Mr. Powell whose losses in gambling first attracted the attention of the FBI" and led to an investigation of FHA loan-guarantee activities.

This was the first public identification of an FHA official whose reported gambling loses of up to $5,000 in a single night had been publicized before.

Powell invoked his constitutional privilege against self-incrimination last week in refusing to answer questions put to him by Banking Committee members.

No Comment

Powell's lawyer said the former FHA official would have no immediate comment on Byrd's letter. There was no reaction from the Justice Department.

Powell resigned his FHA post earlier this year, before the scandal broke into the open. Housing chief Albert M. Cole, who has jurisdiction over FHA, later announced that acceptance of Powell's resignation had been suspended — an action Powell vehemently challenged. FHA said Tuesday its files now list Powell as removed from the agency "with prejudice."

Byrd's Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures and the Banking Committee, as well as several executive agencies, have been probing (1) allegations that some apartment builders raked in huge profits by obtaining oversized FHA-backed construction loans, and (2) charges that unethical salesmen "fleeced" unsuspecting householders by inducing them to get government-guaranteed home repair loans, then failing to deliver on promised work.

Died In 1950

The apartment building program was of post-World War II vintage and died in 1950. But the home repair program still is going on and complaints of abuses under it have been coming in up to the present.

Byrd noted in his letter that Powell "is beyond the power of a congressional committee to compel him to testify, and the Justice Deparement should take action without delay."

The spreading housing investigation moved to another possible target today following a request by Sen. Case (R-SD) that the Army Navy and Air Force send him complete reports on certain military housing projects built under financing arrangements similar to those followed in the defunct apartment construction program now under scrutiny.

Navy and Air Force send him complete reports on certain military housing projects built under financing arrangements similar to those followed in the defunct apartment construction program now under scrutiny.

Illegal In Military

However, it is illegal for the builder of a military housing project to keep any part of a government-backed loan that exceeds construction cost.

Case told newsmen he had heard about one project in which the FHA allegedly insured a $3,100,000 loan to build a project which cost only $995,000. He said the builder reportedly pocketed the balance and fixed rents high enough to pay off the loan.

Case is chairman of a Senate Armed Services subcommittee that keeps an eye on military real estate and construction.

Artillery Duel Marks Action at French Fort

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Vietminh rebels confined their assualts on battered Dien Bien Phu to artillery barrages again today amid mounting indications they may hold off further frontal assaults in hopes of starving out the weary French Union defenders.

Pelting rains of the spring monsoon turned the narrowing mile-square northwest Indochina fortress into seas of red mud, bogging down movement of all mechanized arms. But the defenders continued to slug it out against the artillery of the Communist-led attackers.

The French continued to reinforce the fortress defenses by parachute drop. Despite the rains, the French reported more men and supplies were parachuted into the tiny drop target.

In the United States, a move was under way to recruit more American volunteers to pilot airlift planes in Indochina.

An undisclosed number of American volunteer pilots were signed up by the Pilots Employment Agency, an official of that organization in Teterboro, N. J., said Tuesday. Asked how many of these already were in Indochina flying the airlift of goods and military equipment under contract with the French, he said: "All I can do is to refer you to a report out of Indochina last Sunday saying 25 pilots were flying the transport planes."

WEWOKA, Okla. (AP) — Harking back to the wild and wooly West, roundup clubs are forming a posse to aid officers in east central Oklahoma.

Sheriff John Sowers, welcoming the reinforcements, said he would have 100 horsemen immediately at his disposal for searches in this heavily wooded area.

CHILD IS HEIR BECAUSE OF TRAGEDY—Three-year-old Tertius Evans sleeps, unaware of the tragedy which made him heir to a fortune. His father, Montgomery Evans II, 55, a Philadelphia banking heir, died a few days ago. His mother, an actress, was strangled last year. The lad is shown with his grandmother, Mrs. George L. Coats, in Oklahoma City. The Coats have taken care of the child since the mother's slaying. (AP wirephoto)

No Xmas Trees

VICTORIA (AP)— A campaign to elimintae Christmas trees is being urged on the British Columbia government by Bert Price, social credit member of the legislature from Vancouver. "Wholesale slashing of Christmas trees may one day imperil the lumber industry," he says.

Deaths Mourned

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)— City police are issued black arm bands to wear for three days after a traffic fatality. It's part of a campaign to cut down auto accidents.

Claim Victory For President On Wool Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)— Senate supporters claimed a victory today for the Eisenhower administration farm program but most lawmakers agreed that the major battles over farm price supports are still ahead.

The Senate Tuesday passed a special wool subsidy bill and sent it on to the House.

Before that, the Senate beat down proposed riders aimed at extending the present rigid price supports on major field crops or at reversing or modifying Secretary of Agriculture Benson's order lowering price crops on dairy products.

Gains Strength

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), who steered the wool bill through the Senate, said in an interview:

"This proves that the Eisenhower flexible price support program is gaining strength throughout the country. Farmers and the public now favor it and their views usually are reflected by members of the Congress."

But Aiken conceded he does not know what will happen to the wool bill in the House Agriculture Committee. Members of that group say they have agreed to handle all farm price programs in a single package.

Favor Fixed Supports

And he conceded that members of the Senate Agriculture Committee, which he heads, lined up 8-7 for extending for another year supports on cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, rice and peanuts at 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a level said by law to give a farm product a fair purchasing value.

In the sixth, Larry Henert walked and Lynn Hicks doubled him home.

Dupas, Brady In TV Fight

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Speedy Ralph Dupas, out to justify his No. 4 lightweight ranking after a poor showing last month, meets heavy-hooking Dennis Pat Brady tonight in a nationally-televised 10-rounder.

Dupas, an 18-year-old high school student with 50 triumphs in 55 professional outings, will be making his third appearance over the 10-round distance. The clever hit-and-run artist dropped a split decision to lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco earlier this year before the Brooklyn billygoat lifted the crown from Jimmy Carter.

In defeating unranked Santiago Esteban last month, Dupas was content to peck away with his left jab, rather than tangle with his willing opponent.

Brady, a 26-year-old New Yorker with 32 knockouts in 95 ring appearances, said, "I'll knock him out."

Hubs Fourth In Princeton Track Meet

Princeton Wins; Twelve Records Set, One Tied

PRINCETON—(Special)—The Princeton Tigers spread their track domination over half the North Central Illinois conference yesterday afternoon by beating out four other conference members in the Princeton invitational meet.

Twelve new records were set and another tied in this second annual affair in which the members of the Southern (football) division of the conference compete. However, last year's meet was held on a cold and rainy day.

Final standings:

Princeton	67¼
Rock Falls	46¼
Mendota	42
Rochelle	29½
Geneseo	24½

Art Haws and Ron Hill turned in victories and records for Rochelle. Haws won the broad jump with a leap of 20'4" while Hill won the discus with a heave of 133'3".

Sayers of Rock Falls set the 100 yard record at :10.55 and tied the 220 yard mark at :23.6.

Flinn of Princeton captured the 440 yard run mark at :52.4 and Byrd of Princeton won the 880 yard run at 2:06.

Sets Two Records

Lewis Flinn of Princeton set two records, winning the pole vault at 11'6" and the low hurdles at :21.6.

Garrity of Geneseo copped the mile run record at 4:50.1 and Princeton set a new mile relay mark of 3:36.2. Anderson of Princeton won the shot at 49'6".

A three way tie resulted in the high jump with the record being shared by Boher of Princeton and McMahon and Morrow of Mendota.

Ken Ferris of Rock Falls won the 120 high hurdles in 16.2 and Byrd of Princeton tied the time in the preliminaries.

Saturday night when we attended the Reynolds Wire banquet at the Rainbow Inn we had the pleasure of meeting William Haarbauer, general manager of the Reynolds Wire division of the National Standard Co., and when Roger Anderson, master of ceremonies, introduced "Bill" to the group of Reynolds keglers, we were glad to hear him encourage the league bowlers to form an even larger league next year, and to find that the bowling game has two more champions in Mr. Anderson and Mr. Haarbauer, and we're looking forward to the Reynolds keglers to perhaps have a two-shift loop next season, or at least 12 teams as from the talk of the ones we met they had a fine time the last season, die in no small part to the efforts of personnell manager, Roger Anderson, whose enthusiasm for the game, caused him to devote a lot of time and effort in organizing the loop last season, which I'm sure paid him off in the enjoyment the fellows had in the first league season . . . Imogene Calder has given us a list of the only girls' team that we've heard of so far that will attend the Women's National tourney at Syracuse. The team will be sponsored by Lincoln Lanes and is made up of the following girls: Jane Fischer, Frances Brewer, Lucille Poole, Imogene Calder, Martha Halstenberg and Clytie Ridge. Clytie, Lucille's Poole sister, now living out of town, is a former Dixon kegler . . . Peter Pipers had a twin celebration Monday night, after winning the Ladies league, celebrating not only their last minute victory but Adeline Myers' ——th birthday with a birthday cake provided by Katy Kelly. We managed to join the party in time enough to get the last piece of cake . . . The schedule for the Women's Association tourney, which starts next Tuesday night, May 4, will be published in Saturday's paper and also the men's tournament schedule for Monday and Tuesday. The bowlers should check on the schedule to make sure they will be on hand promptly. Team captains must report to Secretaries Bessie McConnaughay at the Recreation, and Ray Nelson at the Lanes, 15 minutes before their teams are scheduled in order to give their lineup and draw for alleys.

Byron Wins 1-0 Pitchers' Duel

MONROE CENTER —(Special)—Byron's Allan Cain and Monroe Center's Vern Kruger hooked up in a tight pitchers' duel yesterday afternoon in a Route 72 conference game with Cain, and Byron, finally gaining the edge with a 1-0 victory.

Both pitchers hurled one-hitters, but the hit Byron's Jim Swanson collected proved the deciding one. Swanson singled and went to third when the outfielder let the ball get through him. Gene McNames, next batter, struck out but the catcher dropped the ball and then threw wild to first base, letting Swanson score the winning run in the sixth inning.

It was Byron's second victory against no losses in conference play.

Hasty Road Makes Its Mark, Wins Derby Trial by Head

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The 80th running of the Kentucky Derby took a hasty turn today but there was every indication the names of 18 horses will be dropped into the entry box for the $100,000 added mile and one-quarter test of speed and stamina.

Twenty-four hours ago a pair of three-year-olds from California were dominating predictions on Saturday's classic.

Hasty Road hung a head defeat Tuesday on Determine, one of the Californians, in the mile of the derby trial.

Determine had won six straight stake races before heading for Churchill Downs. He yielded Tuesday to a track record smashing performance of 1:35 in a photo finish.

Correlation, owned by Robert S. Lytle of Los Angeles, remained the firm Derby choice at 2 to 1.

The Derby trial victory, which boosted Hasty Road's total earnings to $291,232, also sent the Ohio colt into second spot in the Derby odds, with Sea O Erin as a running mate, the entry was quoted at 7-2.

Determine, who will have Allied as a running mate Saturday, dropped to the co-third choice at 6 to 1 with Goyamo. Goyamo won the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland last week but much of his popularity is based on the fact he'll be ridden by the Derby's winning jockey—Eddie Arcaro. Old Banana Nose has piloted five winners since 1938.

Redleg Homers Bring 8-7 Win Over Pittsburgh

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The homer-happy Redlegs blasted their way into first place in the National league by winning a battle of four-baggers at Cincinnati Tuesday night from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-7.

Ten of the 15 runs were direct results of homers. Ted Kluszewski slammed one for Cincinnati in the first with one aboard and Jim Greenglass followed right behind him with another. Came the third and Kluszewski hit another.

The Pirates blasted back in the sixth with back-to-back blows by Toby Atwell and Jerry Lynch. And in the eighth Atwell and Lynch did the trick again.

Take Lead

Cincinnati moved into first place by half a game over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who bowed in St. Louis 7-3. Milwaukee squeezed by New York 3-2 and Philadelphia was rained out at Chicago in the National League.

The Chicago White Sox won their fourth straight, a 4-3 thriller over the New York Yankess in the only American League action. Bad weather brought postponements of the Boston-Cleveland, Philadelphia-Detroit and Washington-Baltimore contests.

Preacher Roe, a long-time Cardinal jinx, was the victim at St. Louis. Two walks, a double by Ray Jablonski and a single by rookie Tom Alston gave the Cards two runs in the fourth. Another walk and a single by Del Rice were followed by Red Schoendienst's double, an intentional pass and a two-run single by Jablonski in the fifth.

Johnson Wins

Al Brazle and Stu Miller preserved Gerry Staley's second victory. Miller worked three hitless innings.

A bases-loaded single by Del Crandall — good for two runs in the fourth — and a two-out single by Johnny Logan in the eighth drove in the Milwaukee runs, the first scored against Giant pitching in 32 innings. New York tied the score in the eighth on a pinch single by Bill Taylor with two on.

The Yankees feel below the .500 mark in losing to right-hander Don Johnson, a refugee from the minors who once belonged to the Yanks. The White Sox beat Whitey Ford for the first time in his brief major league career. Ford had owned a 7-0 record over the Chicagoans.

Three hits and an error by Phil Rizzuto produced two Chicago runs in the fourth. In the fifth Minnie Minoso slammed a two-run homer.

The Yanks faced three pitchers in the ninth. Al Sima, who had taken over from Johnson in the eighth, gave up a double to Yogi Berra to open the last inning. Sandy Consuegra retired two but was touched for a run-scoring single by pinch hitter Hank Bauer and Harry Dorish came on to retire Bob Cerv on an infield roller for the final out.

YESTERDAY'S WEATHER was hardly conducive to good golf, but nevertheless, the official opening of the Dixon country club and the first men's night of the season found several golfers reporting in with good scores.

Bill Witzleb, defending city champion, showed the way by racking up a 36 while Harold Green was just a stroke behind with a 37.

BILL MOONEY AND ART SAMPLE each battled their way around to a 38 and "Year Round" Noble, Ed O'Malley and Ned Sack wound up with 39s.

Ned Sack, incidentally, played most of his golf from the rough and wrong fairways. Evidently he made fine recoveries.

NEXT MONTH the country club has scheduled an interclub match with Princeton, May 13, at Dixon and a Decoration day flag tournament May 31.

Blind Bogey winners were: Marv Sisler, Dean Harrison, Harold Green, Bill Short, A. Goodspeed, Gene Krahenbuhl, Gordon Ommen, Harold Rorer, Ned Sack, Harry Kerz, Bill Witzleb, Bus Carlson and John Selgestead.

THE OREGON COUNTRY CLUB, which plans its opening for Thursday night, will celebrate with a play, "The Pot Boiler," at 8:15 p. m. Orchestra music will be provided for dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Waddell have returned to manage the club again this year.

AN EAST TEXAS STATE COLLEGE stringbean, 6-7 172-pound Chuck Holding, has cleared seven feet in a practice session and his coach thinks he can repeat the same in one of the three meets left on the school's schedule.

THE NEW YORK YANKEES have hired Bill DeWitt, former president of the St. Louis Browns, as assistant general manager, filling the spot vacated when Roy Haney became general manager of the Philadelphia Phils.

DeWitt made the Browns a paying proposition despite the poor finishes by reorganizing the farm system and then peddling top players to other clubs for handsome figures. DeWitt often took unheralded players, developed them and later sold them back to the original clubs at a sizable profit for the Browns.

DEWITT COLLECTED $1,500,000 for the sale of such players as Vern Stephens, Jack Kramer, Ellis Kinder, Billy Hitchcock, Al Zarilla, Stan Spence and Les Moss to the Boston Red Sox.

He also sent Fred Sanford to the Yankees for Sherman Lollar, Red Embree, Dick Starr and $100,000 in one of his most astute transactions.

Netmen Win, 8-1 Over Mt. Morris

Dixon's undefeated tennis team hammered out an 8-1 victory over Mt. Morris last night but the Mounders extended the Dukes to the limit of three sets in four of the nine matches.

Dick Merwin forced Dixon's Joe Cushing the full distance, Keith Nesemeier grabbed a one set lead before bowing to Joe Jones, Danny Noonkesser pushed John Nelles all the way and in the Mounders lone victory, Danny Noonkesser and Nesemeier went three sets before beating Wally Krug and Joe Jones in doubles.

Dixon's number one, Henry Utley, racked up his fourth victory in five starts with Jack Hipple and Norman Glenn also gaining victories. Doubles teams of Cushing and Hipple and Glenn and Bob Ray also won.

The summary:

Cardinals Edge Dakota, 7-6

DAKOTA —(Special)— A two run sixth inning provided the clincher as the Forreston Cardinals made it two in a row over Dakota yesterday afternoon in a non-conference game.

Forreston had taken a 5-0 lead with Dave DeGraff breezing along with ease. In the bottom of the fifth, Coach Bob Brinkmeier lifted DeGraff for use in a game Thursday.

Gary Markman took over the mound and hit a batter, walked two and saw three runs cross the plate as Schneeberger singled and went to third when the ball went between the outfielder's legs. Two more errors provided Dakota with two more runs.

In the top of the sixth, DeGraff doubled, Bob Vietmeier was safe on an error with DeGraff scoring. Then Lowell Swalve singled home the winning run.

Markman had trouble in the last of the seventh when, with one out, Swann doubled. The next man was retired, but Yeoman doubled, scoring Swann. A grounder to short and a mice recovery by DeGraff on the throw to first, ended the game.

Little Babes Big Factor In Economy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— If you see any babies today, don't hesitate to smile at them, pat them on their little backs, and tell them what a great job they're doing for the country.

For this is National Baby Week, a proper time to honor the new hero of the American economy.

Catering to babies is now a five million dollar a year business. In 1953 some 3,890,000 babies arrived here, 70,000 more than the year before, and the production lines are still going full blast. No wonder that, even in as small a country as Holland, it is against the law to shoot storks.

He Benefits

Typical of the businessmen who have benefited from the nation's rising infant crop is Jack Turk, who manufacturers baby garments. Before the baby boom started, Turk had 12 employes and made only blankets. Now he has 300 employes in three factories that turn out 75 specialized products for babies.

"Babies come into the world bare of any inventory," said Turk contentedly. "They need a lot of things right away.

"As a matter of fact, babies are customers even before they are born. The average parents now spend $50 for a layette in advance of birth."

The old tradition of "pink for the girl and blue for the boy" no longer holds true. The favorite colors now are mint, maize and white.

Safe, Comfortable

"The trend now is to make items for babies that are safer, more comfortable, and more colorful," Turk said. "We are finding that color is an important factor in satisfying the psychological and emotional needs of the infant."

This has resulted in such innovations as plastic nursing bottles that won't shatter, folding carriages that take up less space, and removable diapers. Turk himself has pioneered with acetate fiber (intercel) garments for babies allergic to wool, and a blanket with sliding rings that can be attached to crib slats to prevent babies from smothering.

A business recession?

"I can't see one in sight in our field," Turk said, "not the way people are getting married, and having larger families."

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP)— Charles E. Vannoy, 30, of Lincoln, Tuesday was sentenced to life imprisonment after pleading guilty to a charge of murder.

He had been charged with the shotgun slaying of Joe Carr, 38, also of Lincoln, in a tavern on New Year's eve. Vannoy told police after the shooting that he had warned Carr to stop dating Mrs. Vannoy but Carr had refused.

Rep. Coudert Acts to Bar Troops to Indo

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Coudert (R-NY) advanced today a proposal to deny President Eisenhower authority to send American troops to Indochina without prior approval from Congress.

Coudert told newsmen he had discussed the move with a number of colleagues, "and I haven't found anyone who is against it."

"But there's no telling how they will vote if the pressure is put on them," he added. "On a secret roll call I know I could win."

Vice President Nixon has said that in the unlikely event France withdraws her forces from the fight against Communist-led rebels in Indochina, the United States may be obliged to send troops. Republican leaders in Congress have voiced doubt Eisenhower would make such a move without consulting Congress.

Coudert's proposal was drafted as an amendment to a $28,680,706,500 defense appropriation bill.

Coudert's proposal is in the form of a limitation on use of funds the bill provides for the armed services for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

It says that none of the money can be used to finance the sending of troops into combat outside the United States, its territories or possessions except with the consent of Congress, a formal declaration of war or an enemy attack on a foreign nation whose defense the United States is obligated to assist by treaty.

There is no mutual defense treaty between the United States and Indochina.

Woman, 84, Is Beaten

CLINTON, Ill. (AP)— An 84-year-old woman is in John Warner hospital in critical condition today after a brutal beating early Tuesday by a prowler who invaded her home.

Sheriff Kenneth Westray of DeWitt county said Mrs. Mary Gardener related during a brief period of consciousness that the prowler entered her home while she slept. She lives alone.

The sheriff said he was questioning several young men. He said the prowler apparently did not disturb any of Mrs. Gardener's personal goods.

Panama Canal Coming Apart

BALBOA, Panama Canal Zone (AP)—Officials at the Panama Canal admit the 40-year-old waterway is coming apart at a seam once more.

Two experts of the U.S. Corps of Engineers are studying the famous Gaillard (Culebra) cut, the eight - mile manmade passage through the Continental Divide. There a crack has developed in a rock ledge near the top of 415-foot-high Contractor's Hill.

Officials say it has the "potential" of causing a slide which could block the channel, 40 feet deep and about 500 feet wide at that point. It's happened before, in 1915 and 1916.

Channel Swimmer Now a Housewife

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP)—Shirley May France, 22, who as a high school girl twice failed to swim the English Channel, settled down today to be "just a housewife."

The pretty blonde who made vain attempts to cross the Channel in 1949 and 1950 was married Tuesday at Marine 2nd Lt. E. Douglas Smith, 23, also of Fall River.

After the ceremony in Baptist Temple, Shirley May said, "I don't want to do any more swimming. I just want to be a housewife.

Recently she has worked in the sales department of a retail store.

Rentor Writes An Essay on Cuss Words

LODI, N. J. (AP)— A 21-year-old housewife found guilty of using indecent language to her landlord came back to court Tuesday night with the "fine"—a 530-word essay promising never to swear again.

Mrs. Glorida Romanowski of East Rutherford had been fined $10 and $3 costs of court last Tuesday for using indecent language to John Maurizi of Hackensack when he demanded back rent.

When the former Lodi woman couldn't pay the fine, Magistrate George Froehlich jr. assigned the essay. He said she'd get more out of writing it than going to jail.

Mrs. Romanowski concluded in her essay:

"I have certainly learned my lesson."

Asks Raise For Postal Employes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield asked Congress Tuesday to raise the salaries of postal employes by 80 million dollars a year.

Summerfield, testifying before the Senate Post Office Committee, said there are "serious inequities" in the present salary scales which must be corrected if the department is to function properly. The adjustments which Summerfield proposed would result in increases for more than 400,000 of the 500,000 postal field service employes, and would not result in lower salaries for anyone, Summerfield said.

He added that starting rates would in general be increased sharply. The time required for most employes to advance from the minimum to the maximum salary rates for their jobs would be reduced two years.

Summerfield said fourth class postmasters and rural carriers are excluded from the immediate program. He said the department is continuing a study of their pay, and they could be added to the plan later under a program yet to be developed.

Summerfield urged that Congress reject a number of bills it is now considering, proposing flat across-the-board increases ranging from $100 to $1,100 a year.

Governors to Be Briefed On Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)— Eisenhower administration specialists arranged to brief state and territorial governors today on the nation's economic condition and there were advance indications Democrats would ask some pointed questions.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, where the auto industry has been hard-hit by layoffs, said in an interview he intended to ask whether the administration has any plans for combatting unemployment. "I've been asking for some time, and I shall keep on asking," he said.

The administration claims unemployment is leveling off and that there is reason to hope that business will improve later this year.

But some Democrats have contended that if the jobless trend has slowed, there is no sign yet of an employment pickup. The latest government count of unemployed is 3,725,000.

Labor unions have urged the administration to launch a federal spending program to provide jobs but President Eisenhower has said present conditions don't warrant any slam-bang emergency measures that might interfere with a normal, expected recovery.

Tuesday, Vice President Nixon reportedly told the conference the administration is reluctant to send U. S. troops to aid beleaguered French Union forces fighting Communist-led rebels in Indochina but that "we can't let those so and so's (the Russians) know it."

Queen Flies to Mau Mau Land

ENTEBBE, Uganda (AP)— Queen Elizabeth II defied a Mau Mau death threat today and flew to Uganda for a three-day stop on her Commonwealth tour.

She and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived from Aden today despite a letter to Gov. Sir Andrew Cohen that the secret antiwhite terrorists in neighboring Kenya would shoot the monarch if she came to this protectorate.

But the letter from Mau Mau leader Dedan Kimathi caused the government to cut a visit to Kampala from her program and to cancel plans for a 72-mile road journey through the bush to open a new dam at Jinja. Instead the Queen will fly to Jinja.

McCarthy-Army Hearings Costing Hundreds a Day

WASHINGTON (AP)— The McCarthy-army hearings are costing hundreds of dollars a day, but what the total bill will be no one professes to know. For one thing, no one knows just how long they'll last.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), presiding over the hearings as acting chairman of the senate investigations subcommittee, was asked for an estimate of the cost.

"I haven't the foggiest idea," he said.

Three Expenses

However, he said the subcommittee had only three expenses—the salaries of its special five-man staff, the cost of the official transcript of the testimony and the transportation of witnesses from out of town.

He did not include the salaries of the seven subcommittee members and of the principals to the dispute—army officials and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins and members of his staff are being paid at a rate of about $225 a week each. This adds up to a weekly payroll of about $1,125—for however many weeks the probe continues.

Roughly 13,800 words of testimony are going into the record daily, or about 185 pages a day with 240 words to the page.

$1.07 a Page

For the number of copies of the transcript it receives, the subcommittee pays $1.07 a page. Thus, this expense adds up to slightly under $200 a day.

Mundt said he had not received any bills from witnesses subpoenaed from out of town and so could not estimate now what this expense would amount to.

He did say, however, that the army was paying the expenses of its own witnesses so far as he knew. He said he specifically arranged with the army that the subcommittee would not be charged with the expense of bringing Maj. Gen. Miles Reber back from Germany.

Reber was the first witness called by the army. At the Pentagon, officials said the cost of flying him from Western Germany to Washington was $433, and that this was being charged to the army.

Without Pay

Joseph N. Welch of Boston, special counsel retained by the army for the probe, announced when he took the job that he and his two assistants would serve without pay.

He said he had no idea what the army's expenses for the investigation would be. Nor would Pentagon officials hazard an estimate.

The subcommittee's share of the expense is coming out of the regular funds voted by the senate for its work at the start of the year.

The senate approved a $207,000 budget for the subcommittee in the current year. The subcommittee already has voted to ask the senate for an additional appropriation after the hearings have been concluded to reimburse its fund for whatever the inquiry costs.

Clemency Only Hope for Man Scheduled to Die

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The question whether Russell G. Muskus will live or die now rests with the State Pardon and Parole Commission and Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The 31-year-old Kankakee, Ill., man was convicted of strangling George LeMasters, 43, of New Philadelphia in a Canton hotel room on Dec. 2, 1950. The jury failed to recommend mercy, making a death sentence mandatory. Muskus is scheduled to die in the electric chair May 10.

All of his court appeals have been exhausted. Tuesday the Pardon and Parole Commission held a clemency hearing at which two of his sisters appeared.

Miss Veronica Muskus and Mrs. Frances Ross, both of Willoughby, sat quietly as attorneys pleaded for their brother.

Then Miss Musqus said:

". . . I've written many places for help and received none . . . it's up to you people now."

The commission will make its recommendation to the governor, who has the power to reprieve Muskus.

Egypt's Boss Orders Arrest Of 52 Plotters

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser ordered the arrest of at least 52 persons—including 12 army officers—today on charges of plotting with the Communists to cause trouble on May Day.

Maj. Amin Shaer, Nasser's personal aide, told newsmen the 12 officers would be tried by courts-martial "and will be inflicted the most severe punishment."

Arrest of the army offices had been announced earlier today by another government spokesman. Later the police arrested about 40 civilians on similar charges.

The crackdown on the Army followed the banning of political activity by most of the leaders of the country's former political parties and a purge of press leaders opposing the military government.

The arrests also were another step in solidifying Nasser's control following his relegation of the former government head, Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib, to a figurehead presidency April 18.

The government spokesman, Capt. Shems Eddin, said several of those arrested were officers of a cavalry unit which had played an important role in bringing Naguib back to the presidency Feb. 25, after Nasser forced him to quit in the first round of their struggle for power.

Meek Against Sending GIs To Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph Meek, who seeks Sen. Douglas' (D-Ill) job is on record as opposed to sending American troops into Indochina "to pull somebody else's chestnuts out of the fire."

The Republican candidate for senator from Illinois told newsmen Tuesday it is "unthinkable" for the United States to become directly involved in the Far East hostilities — or anywhere overseas — except in the cause of "genuine freedom."

This particularly applies to Indochina, he said, "as long as evidence of French colonialism is involved."

Meek, Douglas' opponent in the November election, flew to Washington Tuesday to talk with Illinois congressmen and possibly with President Eisenhower.

He attended a dinner given for the Illinois congressional delegation Tuesday night by the Illinois Manufacturers Assn., the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce and the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry.

Meek said he wants to discuss with administration officials the rooting out of Democrats in policy-making civil service jobs. He said:

"These is resentment among Republican party workers over the fact that there are New Deal holdovers in key policy jobs in Illinois and all over the country."

Three Motel TV Firms Indicted

CHICAGO (AP) — Three firms and 14 individuals have been indicted by a federal grand jury in connection with promotion of a controlled television system for motels.

The indictment Tuesday charged mail fraud and conspiracy. The government said the operators netted more than two million dollars.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward J. Calihan Jr. said the plan revolved around a "preview" mechanism to be installed in motels. It is a simple clock - operated switching device to be used with a TV receiving set.

Calihan said a motel guest could see the first four minutes of a TV program without charge. If the guest wanted to see the other 26 minutes of the program, he had to place a quarter in a slot on the device, he said.

Calihan said the promoters took in hundreds of thousands of dollars through sales of leases and regional dealerships. He said few of the devices had been delivered and fewer worked satisfactorily.

Firms listed in the indictment are:

Preview Television Corp., formerly known as the National TV System, which marketed the devices.

American Institute of Television Manufacturers.

United States Sign Corp., which supplied the neon signs for motels to advertise the devices.

Calihan said the investors were asked to put up from $3,000 to $15,000 for the privilege of handling the devices. He said motel owners were told they could keep one fourth of the cash dropped in the machines and that they would have to pay $395 for the installation of the neon sign.

Calihan added that more than 350 investors had complained to the Department of Justice.

Depression Pay Turned Him a Red

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Marcus A. Murphy, one of five Communists on trial here, attributes his membership in the Communist party to the depression of the 1930s when "I was denied relief because I refused to accept 30 cents a day to go to work on a Mississippi plantation."

Murphy, a Charleston, Mo., Negro, said he was living in Birmingham, Ala., when he joined the party in 1930.

Testifying Tuesday as the second defense witness in the 3-month-old trial, Murphy said Mississippi plants offered jobs to Negroes seeking aid at the Birmingham relief office and if a person refused to work for the planter he was denied relief.

"I had learned," Murphy said, "even the 30 cents a day wasn't paid in cash, but in script redeemable only at a plantation-owned store. Once you got down there, you never could get enough cash to get away from there."

Murphy testified he became a Communist because he was "very much impressed by the program of a similar organization," the Universal Negro Improvement Assn. which he said advocated equal economic and civil rights for Negroes.

Murphy, acting as his own attorney, was questioned on the stand by another defendant, James F. Forest. Earlier, a third defendant, Robert Manewitz, had completed testimony as the first defense witness.

The other defendants are William Sentner and Forest's wife, Dorothy Rose Forest. All are charged with conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government.
